EYEWITNESS TO HAZELWOOD HISTORY

Each day a Hazelwood student spends at least seven and a half hours in school. There he is given the opportunity to select the classes and activities which will best help him develop his mental ability and social poise, while working toward a goal of becoming a responsible, productive American citizen.

The Hazelwood student elects subjects to fit in with any one of the courses of study designed to meet varying needs. In the course of the average school week, pupils also participate in a program of departmental, special interest, and service clubs which are designed to broaden individual interests or improve skills.

In an atmosphere of learning, pupils still find occasions for relaxation. Whenever there is time, boys and girls gather to talk. Gab fests and serious discussions are carried on in halls, classrooms, and cafeteria. Assemblies, too, provide a welcome break in the daily routine of classroom activities and homework preparation.

POPULATION EXPLOSION

In September 1959, the total enrollment of Hazelwood High School was 821. In September 1960, it numbered 1160, an increase of 389 students. With the growth of student population, there was a growth in faculty as the number of educators rose from 48 to 59. There are 35 teaching stations. The average class size is 33 students per class. With the increase in student and faculty population, the size and stature of Hazelwood increases too.

CLOSE UP

While Mrs. Deckert plans a new bulletin board for the library, Mrs. Parks looks for research material needed by Gary Latta.

Coffee drinking, paper grading, and lesson planning make up that "free" hour the teachers enjoy daily.

ADMINISTRATION AND FACULTY COUNTDOWN

Education is man . . . Education is life . . . It may have its beginning in humble settings. But it leads to the innovation of man-made satellites and the possibility of rockets to the moon . . . It has its future in the realms of the unknown, the undiscovered destiny of tomorrow . . . Education is time itself.

What we will remember from our formal education will be the friends we made and the knowledge we acquired. And yet this schooling is the foundation for our social and cultivated background.

INCREASED ENROLLMENT CREATES

Mr. Clifford E. Kirby
Superintendent

"Lack of space is the biggest problem confronting the school district right now," says Mr. Clifford E. Kirby, superintendent. "We have to decide which schools need enlarging and where to buy land for the new ones. The need of space will result in a new look for Hazelwood High School in 1962."

Seated: Clifford R. Kirby, superintendent; Robert F. Bischof; James Wehmer, president; C. O. McDonald, assistant superintendent; Harry C.

Co-ordinators, expeditors, middle-men—these are the groups of influential Americans who make and follow through administrative directives. Our administrators are men who feel that students must prepare to be good citizens in the community by accepting responsibilities in school now. The members of our Board of Education and the supervisors in our school, themselves leaders in their own fields of endeavor, are convinced that education at Hazelwood must be an apprenticeship to success. Knowing that what we do at Hazelwood determines where we go from Hazelwood, they are making every effort to alleviate the crowded classroom, to enrich the curriculum, to improve the physical conditions of the school, and to provide an intellectual atmosphere for every student who desires it.

Mr. I. L. Zohner, newly appointed assistant to the principal, keeps constant vigil over discipline, arranges the complicated calendar of school activities, and tries to solve the traffic problems arising from too many people going in too many directions between Classes.

Mr. I. L. Zohner

BIGGEST ADMINISTRATIVE PROBLEM

Mr. Francis C. Huss
Principal

Mrs. Billie Hoppen
Secretary

Mrs. Jeannette Gruenewald
Secretary

With more than enough to keep a dozen executives hopping, our principal, Mr. Francis C. Huss, still retains the same enthusiasm for his administrative duties that he had when he came to Hazelwood two years ago. He relies on good judgment and a sense of fairness to battle the persistent problems of an expanding educational system. Every day he tries to keep peace between students and teachers, supervises school activities, and maintains strict discipline in a fitting blend of authority and understanding. The ability with which he handles his job makes it difficult to realize how big it is.

Mr. Laurence J. Fuqua

Mr. Laurence J. Fuqua, assistant principal, at times must feel like the agitated chap who jumped on his horse and rode off in all directions. "Busy" is the word for him. His desk serves as a clearing house for excuses, absentee records, and closed door sessions with recalcitrant students. He has a job to do, and he does it well with a warm smile and a sincere attitude.

Ron Buenger and Ed Prouhet are working out a surveying problem with the use of a transit that was made in the trigonometry class.

MATHEMATICS TEACHES YOU TO THINK

Since the industrial and scientific demands of our society require more and more skilled mathematicians, Hazelwood encourages students to study as much math as they can. Many students who plan to go to college takes two to four years of math. All students must take one year. Students who enter chemistry and physics classes usually avail themselves of the opportunity to learn about advanced reasoning processes so that their scientific studies are more meaningful.

COLLEGE, COURSES, CAREER — SEE YOUR COUNSELOR

Guidance early in life is an important prelude to a successful future. An intensive testing program determines abilities; occupational information stimulates interests in new and exciting career fields. In addition to a vocational guidance program, our counselors plan our high school program, listen to our problems, keep us informed about available scholarships, and provide terminal conferences for seniors and their parents. They also provide an extensive testing program through which teachers and students are enabled to estimate aptitudes, abilities, and interests for use in educational and vocational planning.

Biology students learn about man himself through the study of live animals. Here Karen Brown and Ray Young disprove the theory that girls are afraid of mice.

SCIENCE IS THE CHALLENGE OF THE UNKNOWN

The problem, what man will do with the enormous power which science has put into his hands, is probably the most vital and alarming problem of modern times. The high school is the proving ground for every scientist in the future whose discoveries affect every aspect of our lives—the food we eat, the clothes we wear, the ways in which we wage wars, the conduct between nations. Hazelwood places much emphasis on the natural sciences. Every graduate has had at least one year of science; most have had two; and many have had four.

A thorough study of physics requires a great assortment of instruments and apparatus. Bob Woodruff prepares to demonstrate a battery.

A tool for living. Yes, that is what the language arts are to every one of us. As we learn more about the writing and speaking of languages, we come to appreciate more the things this skill can do for us. The joy and satisfaction of increased understanding is ours as we learn to create in the realm of the imagination and to express our scattered thoughts in organized ideas and opinions.

From the freshman and sophomore levels where the greatest efforts are expended on writing and grammar, to the junior and senior levels where increasing amounts of the world's great literature are studied, competence in the use of the written and spoken word, and understanding and appreciation of literature are the objectives of language arts at Hazelwood. Specific preparation for college work is accomplished in senior English. In addition to the four years of English, students may take speech, dramatics, journalism, Latin, Spanish, and French.

A bulletin board prepared by foreign exchange teacher, Miss Edwards, of London, illustrates the background for her English literature course. Rita McKeone is reporting on the Stratford-On-Avon countryside.

A reading improvement course is now offered to those who feel that they would profit by increasing their reading speed and comprehension. Here students are using the SRA reading laboratory.

IT TAKES MORE THAN READIN' AND WRITIN'

No longer dismal book storehouses, libraries are contending for big places in our lives. Our own library offers recreation along with enlightenment, and practical information along with the greatest philosophy the world can offer.

More than 5500 books are on the shelves of the Hazelwood library with 60 different magazines and periodicals. Our library also boasts a set of the Great Books of the Western World with Syntopicon.

PRACTICAL LIVING SKILLS TAUGHT IN INDUSTRIAL ARTS

It is not necessarily the purpose of the practical arts classes to equip a student to fill a particular job. Rather it is the purpose of these classes to participate in the building a broad background of knowledge competence, and skill, with which any student becomes more able to function effectively in our modern society.

In the advanced drafting class, future architects, engineers, and draftsmen learn the fundamentals of mechanical drawing and the use of drafting tools. Detailing blueprints are Gary Reuter, Bill Jones, John Evans, Ron Kreutztrager, and Dave Larkins.

Drivers' Education is one of the most popular courses at Hazelwood. Students practice driving, learn the rules of the road and the care of a car. The practical value of this course is proved through lowered accident rates of educated drivers. Ron Lichtenberg must prove to Mr. Bowman that he knows just what makes the whole thing go.

The cafeteria snack bar has relieved that long lunch line by offering sandwiches, potato chips, ice cream to the boy and girl who want to eat in a few minutes so that they can join their friends in the halls.

AND THERE SHALL BE MUSIC

Music to lift the spirit and soothe the soul! Instrumental and vocal music groups are organized to fit the taste and talent of almost every student. The basso, the operatic soprano, the drummer in the band, and the lift of the party musician, undergo the discipline good music demands. They receive the inspiration good music provides. Mr. Piazza and Mr. Lewis do their best to see that all students interested in musical training have the opportunity to develop precision, control, and ability to perform with a group.

"Take it from the second strain," instructs Mr. Piazza in band class. Daily practice sessions have resulted in improved performances which deserve the plaudits of the student body.

Mr. Lewis rehearses the second hour girls' chorus class for the annual Christmas program.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION IN TOP

Because of lack of activity during the summer months, Hazelwood initiated a new program known as "Operation Fitness." The program concerns itself with health, sports, activities, and recreational opportunities.

KEEPS STUDENTS CONDITION

Current importance in this project can be traced to the draftee rejection rate in the Korean War. As a result, President Eisenhower called a conference on fitness of American youth in June, 1956. This led to the present Youth Fitness Program, which is now taking place in high schools all over the nation.

The truly educated person must have a wide range of knowledge of the behavior of his fellow man. The large group of studies known as the social sciences contribute to our understanding of man's behavior as a social being. Freshmen begin learning about government as they study citizenship and Missouri's Constitution. World history gives sophomores the opportunity to discover the glorious achievements of civilized man. SENIOR CONFIDENTIAL

The graduating class of 1961 was the first class to have completed six years at Hazelwood High School. During these six years, Hazelwood has grown in size, population, and stature, and as the school has matured, so have these 214 graduates.

In September, 1955, 148 seventh graders entered the Junior High School, which was housed at that time in the present senior high school building. Almost doubling its original class size, this group has led all classes in Honor Roll membership, Pep Club participation, and extracurricular activities.

It truly can be said that the 1961 graduating seniors have not only been veteran eyewitnesses to Hazelwood history, but have written many of its most satisfactory pages.

Four years of senior high school, two years of junior high . . . it really hasn't seemed that long. Somehow these 214 graduates have waded through a muddle of class assignments and rules of conduct. Those barely completed term papers and pop quizzes have turned into pleasant memories by now. During their seventh, eighth, and ninth years, there were those Junior Student Council dances that were so much fun that sock hops were held every other week during their freshman year. The sophomore year was one of car wash and bake sale projects to raise money for the prom, "Aqua Fantasy." They recreated the nostalgic 1900's with their play, "Meet Me in St. Louis." And then came that first year of the fabulous sixties—fabulous because they were seniors. A senior ring, a part in "Our Town," and a date for the prom, "Japanese Sunset,"—all blend together for a final memory. They wish that they had studied harder, played more often, and made more friends.

SEARCH FOR TOMORROW

From the ranks of these underclassmen will come the future writers of Hazelwood history. They have served their apprenticeships well this past year, and their records in scholarship, activity participation, and sports show promise of more achievements to follow.

Since next year's ninth graders will be retained at the Junior High School, the present group of underclassmen will comprize the student body. With from one to three years of working together, the present underclassmen can concentrate their efforts on maintaining the high standards they know are expected of them and on introducing new goals of learning and achieving together. With these students as leaders, this coming year should be one of refining and polishing with few new problems to solve. From the vantage point of eyewitnesses this past year, they now should be in a position to provide effective leadership for the year to come.

WE ARE THE JUNIORS . . .

CLASS OFFICERS

President—Dennis Musgraves
 Vice President—Richard McConnell
 Secretary—Nancy Niehaus
 Treasurer—Mary Jo Hickey

Work and fun filled a memorable junior year. We juniors struggled valiantly with American literature, American history, and assorted higher mathematics and science courses. We found it fun to join with the seniors in studying the drama techniques of "Our Town." Some of us realized our scholastic ambitions by being inducted into the National Honor Society. But it was with our lavish presentation of "Japanese Sunset," the Junior-Senior Prom, that we really distinguished ourselves. In the best oriental tradition, we kept our theme a secret until our guests entered a make-believe garden festooned with Japanese lanterns and cherry blossoms.

"Golly we're finally juniors." This comment held all our hopes for a successful year with Dennis Musgraves to lead us and Richard McConnell, Mary Jo Hickey, and Nancy Niehaus to assist in managing our class business.

OUR FRESHMEN — ALL FOUR HUNDRED

CLASS OFFICERS

President—Gary Coyne
Vice President—Nancy Moss
Secretary—Lynn Marks
Treasurer—Bob Webster

Another first in Hazelwood history—a class enrollment of more than four hundred. One of every three students crowding our halls, cheering for our teams, and voting in our school elections are freshmen. Their numbers alone make them unique, but add three more years of enthusiasm, loyalty, and willingness to learn, and 1964 indeed will be a year to be remembered.

ABOUT FACES

YOUTH WANTS TO KNOW

Not only do Hazelwood students want to know the answers to their math problems, the whys and wherefores of diagramming sentences, and the pros and cons of recognizing Red China, but they want to explore opportunities for leadership through their Student Council, they want to feel the exhilaration of mass cheering in their Pep Club, and they want to more fully prepare themselves for the future by belonging to a career or service club.

Clubs, both honorary and voluntary, are binding forces in Hazelwood unity.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

Student Council Store, activity tickets, assemblies, mixers, Homecoming Weekend, Dress Up Day, Turn About Day, picnic, Christmas Dance, standardized ring . . . Yes, the life of a Student Council member is a busy one. What other things does he do? He acts as a guide on Freshman Orientation Day and Open House, he writes a monthly column for the Hawk Talk, he goes carolling on Christmas, and he attends all the meetings of the Suburban Association of Student Councils. He is the people's choice and he serves his constituents well.

IS THE PEOPLE'S CHOICE

Mrs. Bridgeman, advisor, points out the characteristics of a good yearbook to members of the Journalism Class. Hoping that the '61 book also will win a Missouri Interscholastic Press Association Class I rating, Sue Boswell, Nancy Sidener, Nancy Greenway, Judy Crawford, Mary Ann Miller, Karen Brown, and Phyllis Marks exchange ideas.

THIS IS YOUR . . . TORCH

In the future, reading your Torch will be like having the events of the 1960-61 school year re-enacted for you. The characters will be the people you have known, and the scenes will be the ones you saw yourself.

Planning and preparing the Torch required the cooperation of the staff, the editor, and the advisor. Though they had to work under mounting pressure as deadlines neared, production generally progressed smoothly, and the book was published on schedule.

To reach our 700 goal, we really had to stoop low to sell a yearbook. Sandra Zuccarello gives her down payment to Kathy Horst.

While Liz Wehrenbrecht types and Mary Ann Miller studies the planning dummy, creative wheels start turning.

Approximately 1500 pictures had to be sorted, cropped, and labeled. Jerry Ryan, editor, must decide which photographs best tell the story.

The Robed Choir, under the direction of Mr. William A. Lewis, has a varied repertoire and a polished style. Strains from The Hallelujah Chorus or from the Hazelwood Hymn can never be forgotten by students or faculty. The Choir's best memories are those shared by all members—the strenuous practicing, the performance that sounded so right that even Mr. Lewis bragged, and the singing together for the last time at graduation.

"This Is My Country" sounds the fitting patriotic note in the Thanksgiving program given by the Fine Arts Department. This was the Robed Choir's first public appearance during the 1960-61 season.

MAJORETTES

THE BAND

Playing ten different kinds of instruments, the Hazelwood Band has forty-five members. Various appearances in high school assemblies, at football games, elementary schools, and community activities gave the band an opportunity to present their music to critical audiences. The band journeyed to Riverview Gardens High School and the St. Louis Training School for special concerts. Highlighting the band's active year was the annual spring concert held in connection with the Art Festival on April 28. The band played various dances, marches, and overtures.

Attending to the business problems of the band were Alice Bishop, president, and Jeff Ploudre, vice-president and student director.

WIN OR LOSE —

With a membership of 600, this year's Pep Club topped all previous records of attendance at games, good sportsmanship, enrollment, and enthusiasm. The attendance at away-games rose to an all-time high. Seven bus loads of fans rode to Riverview Gardens, and five busses were filled for the Maplewood game.

WE ARE THERE

The life of a cheerleader is not an easy one. Cheerleaders practice three hours a week, attend every game, and decorate for special occasions. The loyalty and enthusiasm which color our games is generated by the two cheerleading squads.

Hoping to build up enthusiasm, varsity cheerleaders lead the Pep Club in a favorite yell, "I Said Satisfied."

THE H-SQUAD

Combining fellowship with a love of sports, the Athletic Department of the school puts emphasis on good sportsmanship and fairplay.

The students who participate in the sports activity program at Hazelwood are good will ambassadors from our school to the schools in the neighboring districts.

Whether the Hawks play on gridiron, mats, diamond, track, basketball court, or golf course, they play with unrelenting spirit, stamina, and the will to win.

With Wynalda tackling, a Wentzville Indian bites the dust giving Bureman and Gerling the chance to intercept for a 33-6 trouncing.

If mental telepathy, concentration, and pacing back and forth could win a football game, Coaches Henner, Wiggins, and Negri would have this one sewed up.

Senior guard George Gerling anticipates his last high school football season when he picks up his number 60 jersey that he has worn all four years.

Moving up to a larger and tougher league, the Suburban Middle Seven, the Hawks held their own with a better-than-average season. Rugged competition held the score down, but provided the necessary experience that promises a first place team in the future. Jim Haynie, George Gerling, and Louis Prange received post-season honors for their outstanding performances throughout the season.

All-American Honorable Mention Jim Haynie drops a Berkeley Bulldog to keep that one-point victory on the Hawks' side.

WRESTLING ATTRACTS 36 MAT MEN

Trying to secure a bid for Hazelwood in the state finals, a gallant effort was put forth by 12 Hawk mat men. However, only four boys placed during the eliminations of the District Meet. Danny Coleman took a third place; Morris Weseloh, a fourth place; Allen Smith, a fourth place; Cliff Davies, a fourth place.

LOVE OF LIFE

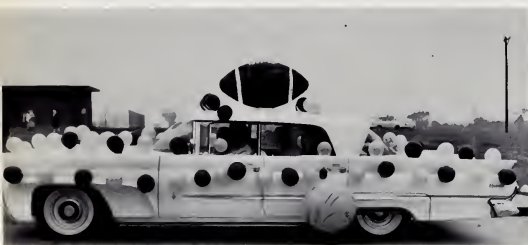

Student life at Hazelwood has its lighter moments too. The sheer exuberance of a Homecoming Weekend, the anticipation of corsages, sweeping formals, and dinner jackets at the Junior-Senior Prom, the first night jitters of the play cast, self-expression at the Art Festival, and the unpacking of fried chicken at the picnic—these are healthy, normal teenage emotional experiences that contribute to the molding of a well-rounded young man and woman. Our students have an opportunity to live life as well as to study it.

HOMEcoming —

In spite of a disappointing football loss to St. Charles and an inconsiderate weatherman, Hazelwood dispelled the gloom with an enthusiastic turnout for Homecoming Weekend activities October 7-8.

PLAYHOUSE HAZELWOOD

PRESENTS

"OUR TOWN"

The year is 1901. The scene is a typical small town in New Hampshire called Grover's Corner. The stage is bare except for a few chairs, two tables, and several trellises. No, the stage committee did not make a mistake. These were all the props that were called for in Thornton Wilder's "Our Town," presented by the Junior-Senior Classes.

The cast then proves that props are not important. Good acting, knowledgeable direction by Leonard Cox, and many hours of arduous rehearsing add up to a sympathetic presentation of a quiet drama which plays upon the emotions of the audience. The elegance of the wedding and the sadness of the funeral were moving and well acted.

OVER JUNIOR-SENIOR PROM GUESTS

With the glow of a Japanese sunset radiating a colorful blend of oriental hues and tints, Sandra Spellazza and Dennis Musgraves crossed a garden bridge to mount the pagoda throne to reign as King and Queen of the annual Junior-Senior Prom held May 13, 1951, in the high school gymnasium.

Entering through a Japanese garden with its miniature fish pool and delicately pinked cherry trees, guests were ushered into an enclosed ballroom lavishly decorated with the brush strokes of Japanese art and canopied in sunset colors. Murals of Japanese life formed the side walls, and overhead lanterns softened the glow of the sunset. Fans, rickshaws, and miniature gardens were used for table decorations. Approaching the throne, the court crossed a small pink foot-bridge flanked by cherry trees to catch glimpses of snow-covered Mount Fujiyama in the distance.

Ladies of the court rode in an authentic rickshaw pulled by Gene Boswell, clad in coolie costume. Retiring King Eugene Wright assists Retiring Queen Ellen Dimitry as she enters the ballroom.

SPRINGTIME IS PICNIC TIME

Picnic Time, a new idea in student and faculty mixers, introduced by the Student Council this year, proved to be so much fun that, like the robin, probably will be the first sign of spring in the years ahead. Although the scheduled baseball game was rained out, the picnickers took to the gyms for volleyball, golf, ping pong, shuffle board, and dancing. Baskets of goodies were spread out in the cafeteria, and trite as it may seem, a really good time was had by all.

Dozens of students and teachers kept the volleyball courts alive all evening.

HAZELWOOD SALUTES ITS 191

As the traditional Processional is being played, the 191 seniors in their slate blue caps and gowns march to their places with parents, relatives, and friends standing to pay them homage.

GRADUATES

Commencement Week activities began with Baccalaureate Services on May 28 and graduation exercises on June 2, in the high school auditorium. Approximately 50 seniors enjoyed a class picnic at Sunnen Lake while others took advantage of the day to look for jobs, buy those graduation outfits, or simply sleep late and sun bathe in the backyard.

Mr. Francis C. Huss, principal, presented awards and scholarships, and Mr. Howard F. Gamble, president of the Board of Education, gave out the diplomas.

"STRIVING AND LEARNING THROUGH BETTER UNDERSTANDING"
